

Glossy Black-Cockatoo Birding Day - 2017

Background: The 2017 Glossy Black-Cockatoo Birding Day is just around the corner. Each year the Glossy Black Conservancy enlists the help of volunteers throughout the SEQ and northern NSW regions to surveys sites for signs of this iconic threatened species.

When: Sunday 14 May 2017

Where: Throughout SEQ and northern NSW, but really anywhere glossies may be

How to get involved:

- 1) Register your interest by sending an email to one of the regional coordinators on the website
- 2) Attend workshops on species identification and survey methods
- 3) Participate in the survey in an assigned grid cell or survey your own property

Great Prizes up for grabs

Volunteers Needed!

For more information on the event and the glossies visit www.glossyblack.org.au

